

The WAVE Wireless Instant Notification System

Automate your Covert Field Surveillance

Add the WAVE to your field surveillance operations and get instant, pinpointed notification of an incident!

The Portable WAVE decreases response times and reduces surveillance expenses while increasing the effectiveness of your operations. The portable WAVE has been used in a wide variety of field applications. These applications include alarming decoy cars to notify law enforcement when wheels are being stolen, providing panic buttons to vulnerable VIPs and protecting construction sites or commercial premises that are experiencing increased criminal activity.

The WAVE is a flexible and cost effective wireless instant notification system. When panic buttons or other wireless sensors are triggered, the WAVE transmits a pre-recorded message over your radio network. You can react immediately and effectively without any dispatch delay.

Portable WAVE boxes can be used in covert field surveillance operations. For example, the WAVE can be used instead of stationing an officer at a location or with an individual. Instead of having an officer transmit a call for assistance over the radio network, the WAVE will automatically call for assistance when a panic button is pressed, a motion sensor detects movement or another sensor is triggered.

System Features:

- End users can record up to 4 unique, detailed messages on the portable WAVE.
- Messages are easy to change.
- The messages are transmitted to all radios in the end user's radio network or to a specified call-group.
- A wide variety of wireless sensors are available including panic buttons, tilt sensors, door/window contacts and motion detectors.
- Sensors can be set to turn on or off based on a customized schedule.
- The WAVE is compatible with voice announcement frequency, VHF, UHF, 800 MHz or any other commercially available radio frequency.
- The portable WAVE can be plugged into a standard electrical outlet or can function on its battery for up to three days.
- Free two year warranty provided with all new systems.

We have over 1,000 satisfied customers nationwide!

817 869 0569

sales@securetechwave.com